Dwight Davis

Certified Performance
Technologist

Dwight Davis is the principal Certified Performance Consultant with over 25 years corporate experience with successful performance improvements and training facilitation workshops at Lighthouse Performance, MCI, Andrew SciComm, Circuit City, USA Financial Group Inc., and E-Systems (now Raytheon). He has a strong leadership background in organizational development and effectiveness, including: mergers and acquisitions, organization cultural change, and technical project management.

Dwight has led within the project management profession for over 30 years with U.S. government high-tech DoD ECM systems contracts and projects. He has also managed international government high-tech systems hardware and software development projects with deliverables. Dwight led multiple major telecom, infrastructure, and software development and implementation projects with products and services deliverables with MCI.

Dwight has served the last 3 years as Vice-President Programs for the Dallas PMI chapter consisting of 2500+ project managers in the Dallas area. Dwight's peers awarded him the PMI Dallas Chapter Member of the Year in 2002 for his proven and excellent example of project management leadership within the chapter. Dwight has now applied to PMI for his Project Management Professional (PMP) certification. He is now ready to take his final PMP certification exam.

Dwight makes his workshops fun and maintains active interaction with the participants throughout his presentations and facilitated workshops. His personal motto is, "Success begins by helping others." He has proven successful in fulfilling his motto in his facilitation and development training.
